NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

THIS NOTICE CONTAINS IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT THE CHINESE ACUPUNCTURE & HERB CENTER PRIVACY PRACTICES. THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW CAREFULLY.

I. What is this notice?

In order to provide its services, the Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center must collect, maintain, and use Non-public Personal Information (“NPI”) that has been obtained from you, our patients. We consider this information private and confidential and have policies and procedures in place to protect the information against unlawful use and disclosure. This notice describes the types of information we collect, explains when and to whom we may disclose it, and provides you with additional important information as to our legal duties and privacy practices. It also describes your rights to access and control your NPI.

Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center is required to abide by the terms of this notice. However, we may modify the terms of this notice at any time, and the new notice will be effective for all NPI in our possession at the time of the change and created or received thereafter.

Information that Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center collects, uses, and maintains on you is protected by federal and state laws: the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) and D.C. state law. Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center does not disclose NPI to anyone, except with your authorization or otherwise as permitted by law.

If you believe your privacy rights under HIPAA or state law have been violated, you can submit a written complaint to Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center at the address above. You may also complain to the Secretary for Health and Human Services if you believe your privacy rights have been violated. There will be no retaliation for filing a complaint.

II. What is “Non-public Personal Information” (NPI)?

NPI is information that identifies you as an individual and relates to your participation in treatment, your physical or mental health condition, the provision of treatment of healthcare to you, or payment to Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center for the provision of services provided to you.

III. How does Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center protect NPI?

At Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center we restrict access to NPI to members of our workforce who need to provide care or services to you. We maintain physical and procedural safeguards to protect your NPI against unauthorized access and use.

IV. How does Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center use NPI and for what purposes?

Here are some examples of what we do with the information we collect and the reasons it might be used:

A. Treatment: We may use information about you to provide medical treatment and services to you. We may use and share NPI with our staff who are involved in providing care to you. For example, information obtained by our staff might be recorded in a treatment record and used to determine our course of treatment.

B. Payment: We may use and disclose NPI so that treatment and services you receive may be billed to, and payment collected from, you or a third party. For example, we may complete and submit to your health care plan or insurance company a description of treatment provided to you. We also may use and disclose your NPI to obtain payment from other third parties that may be responsible for the costs, such as family members.

C. Healthcare Operations: We may also use and disclose NPI to perform health care operations. This is necessary to make sure that all our patients receive quality care. For example, we may use NPI to review our treatment and services and to evaluate the performance of our employees.

V. What uses and disclosures do not require my authorization?

We may use and disclose NPI without your authorization for the following purposes:

A. Business Associates: We may contract with outside individuals and organizations that perform business services for us, such as billing, management consultants, quality assurance reviews, accountants or attorneys. In certain circumstances, we may need to share your information with a business associate so it can perform a service on our behalf. Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center will limit the disclosure of information to a business associate to the amount of information that is the minimum necessary for the business associate to perform services for us. In addition, we will have a written contract in place with the business associate requiring it to protect the privacy of your information.

B. As Required by Law: We will disclose NPI when required to do so by federal, state, or local law.

C. Public Health Activities or Risks: We may disclose NPI to public health authorities that are authorized by law to collect information for the purpose of:

- Reporting child abuse or neglect;
- Preventing or controlling disease, injury, or disability;
- Notifying a person regarding potential exposure to a communicable disease;
- Notifying a person regarding the potential risk for spreading or contracting a disease or condition;
- Reporting reactions to drugs or problems with products or devices;
- Notifying individuals if a product or device we may be using has been recalled;
- Notifying appropriate government agencies and authorities regarding the potential abuse or neglect of an adult patient (including domestic violence); and
- Notifying your employer under limited circumstances related primarily to workplace injury or illness or medical surveillance.

D. Health Care Oversight Activities: We may disclose NPI to a health oversight agency for activities authorized by law. Oversight activities can include investigations, inspections, audits, surveys, licensure and disciplinary actions; civil administrative and criminal procedures or actions; or other activities necessary for the government to monitor compliance with civil rights laws and the health care system in general.

E. Lawsuits and Disputes: We may use and disclose NPI in response to a court or administrative order if you are involved in a lawsuit or similar proceeding. We also may disclose your NPI in response to a discovery request, subpoena, or other lawful process by another party involved in the dispute, but only if we have made an effort to inform you of the request.

F. Law Enforcement: We may disclose NPI if asked to do so by a law enforcement official as part of law enforcement activities; in investigations of criminal conduct at Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center, or of victims of crime; in emergency situations to report a crime (including the location or victim of the crime, or the description, identity or location of the perpetrator); or when required to do so by law.

G. Serious Threats to Health and Safety: We may use and disclose NPI when necessary to reduce or prevent a serious threat to your health and safety or the health and safety of another individual or the public. Under these circumstances, we will only make disclosures to a person or organization able to help prevent the threat.

H. Military: We may use and disclose NPI if you are a member of the United States or foreign military forces (including veterans) and if required by the appropriate military command authorities.

I. Protective Services for the President, National Security and Intelligence Activities: We may use and disclose NPI to federal officials for intelligence and national security activities authorized by law.

J. Worker's Compensation: We may release NPI for worker's compensation or similar programs.

VI. What uses and disclosures of NPI require my authorization?

We may release NPI to a friend or family member, identified by you, that is helping you pay for your treatment or who assists in taking care of you.

VII. What are my rights governing the information that Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center collects, uses, and maintains on me?

A. The Right to Inspect and Copy: You have the right to inspect and obtain a copy of your NPI that we maintain and have in our possession, including treatment records and billing records. If you request copies, we will charge you a fee for the costs of copying, mailing, labor, and supplies associated with your request. To inspect and copy your NPI, you must submit your request in writing to Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center.

Under certain circumstances we may deny your request to inspect and copy your NPI. If you are denied access to this information, you will be provided a written explanation for the denial.

B. The Right to Amend or Correct NPI: If you feel that any NPI we have about you is not correct or complete, you may ask us to correct or amend the information. You have the right to request an amendment for as long as the information is kept (seven years) by us. To request an amendment, your request must be made in writing to Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center. Additionally, you must provide a reason that supports your request.

Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center reserves the right to deny your request for an amendment if it is not in writing or does not include a reason to support the request. In addition, we may deny your request if you ask us to amend information that:

- Was not created by us;
- Is not part of the medical information created by us;
- Is not part of the information which you would be permitted to inspect and copy; or
- Is accurate and complete.

C. The Right to an Accounting of Disclosures: An accounting of disclosures is a list of the disclosures we have made, if any, of your NPI.

You have the right to request an accounting of disclosures made by us. This right applies to the disclosures for purposes other than those made to carry out treatment, payment and health care operations as described in this notice. It also excludes communications of NPI made to you or disclosures authorized by you.

Your request must be made in writing. We may charge you for the costs of providing the list. We will notify you of the cost involved and we may choose to withdraw or modify your request at that time before any costs are incurred.

D. The Right to Receive Communications of NPI by Alternative Means or at Alternative Locations: You have the right to request that we communicate with you about your treatment and related issues in a particular manner or at a certain location. For example, you may ask that we contact you at work rather than at home. We will accommodate all reasonable requests made in writing.

E. The Right to Request Restrictions: You have the right to request a restriction or limitation on the NPI we use or disclose about you for treatment, payment or health care operations as described in this notice. You also have the right to request a limit on the treatment information we disclose about you to someone who is involved in your care or the payment for your care (like a family member or friend).

Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center is not required to agree to your request, However, if we do agree, we will comply with your request until we receive notice from you that you no longer want the restriction to apply.

Any request for a restriction on our use and disclosure of your NPI must be made in writing to Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center. Your request must describe in a clear and concise manner: (1) the information you wish restricted; (2) whether you are requesting to limit our use, disclosure or both; and (3) to whom you want the limits to apply.

F. The Right to Provide an Authorization for Other Uses and Disclosures: We will obtain your written authorization for uses and disclosures that are not identified by this notice or permitted by applicable law. Any authorization you provide to us regarding the use and disclosure of your NPI may be revoked at any time in writing to Chinese Acupuncture & Herb Center. After you revoke your authorization, we will no longer use or disclose your NPI for the purposes described in the authorization.

G. The Right to Obtain a Paper Copy of This Notice: You have the right to obtain a paper copy of this notice of privacy practices at any time.
